1 Global Constitutionalism

In 2020 Southampton Law School became home to prestigious journal 'Global Constitutionalism' (GlobCon), which offers an interdisciplinary space for addressing the foundations, limitations and contestations of the principles and norms of political order and their dynamics over time on a global scale.

2 Outstanding student opportunities

Madison Stevens, LLB (Hons) Law, visited the European Parliament in Brussels during Brexit negotiations. "It was amazing to be able to see how the institutions of the European Union function, especially during such a historical time."

3 Reforming Housing Law in Malta

Lecturer in Land Law, Mark Jordan, met with policymakers to discuss reforms in Maltese housing Law that will offer renters protection from acute rent inflation and greater protections against eviction. Mark's recommendations around tenancy law have informed a white paper from the Maltese government which proposes the extension of tenants' rights.

4 Mooting in India

Lauren Winsler LLB (Hons) Law, participated in an international mooting competition, battling over 50 other universities and reaching the final. "I travelled to a bucket list country, experienced a completely different culture and explored a new area of Law."

5 European Law Students' Association Southampton

ELSA is an independent organisation run by and for students and recent graduates, who are interested in achieving academic and personal excellence in addition to their legal or law-related studies at university.

BEGIN YOUR JOURNEY WITH AN OPEN MIND

Giovanni Castronovo

Managing Associate in the commercial real estate team at Mishcon de Reya LLP

“I wanted to study at a prestigious law school with high academic standards – Southampton ticked this box. The law school proactively encouraged students to think about their long-term aspirations and goals, and provided ample career advice. I found this to be invaluable in understanding not only what I wanted to do after university but the steps I would need to take to get there. It was as a direct result of the university careers programme that I was able to secure a summer vacation scheme placement in my second year, and subsequently a training contract, with a London-based law firm.

I started my traineeship in 2011 at Trowers & Hamlins LLP. During these two years I worked across four different departments, including six months in the Bahrain office, before qualifying into the commercial real estate team in 2013. After eight happy years I decided to seek a different challenge and moved to Mishcon de Reya LLP.

I practise as a commercial real estate solicitor, and continually develop skills including drafting and negotiation. I act for various domestic and international clients across the commercial real estate industry, including public and private limited property companies and institutional investors.

For anyone looking to start a career in law, I would offer one key piece of advice:

Begin your professional journey with an open mind. Whilst you may have pre-conceived ideas about which area of law you would, or would not, like to work in, you may discover what you really enjoy once you begin practising.”

OUR PEOPLE

Our world-leading academics will inspire, challenge and support you throughout your studies. While you are with us, you will be taught by experts with industry experience and lecturers with innovative approaches to education.

- Become part of a research-intensive community where our discoveries are having global impact.
- Feel welcome in your new home among a diverse mix of people and cultures.

Dr Alexandros Ntovas
Associate Professor of Maritime Law and the Director of the Institute of Maritime Law

Alexandros has practised in the areas of public and administrative law, and acted on numerous occasions as an invited expert advocate and policy advisor to governments, including the European Union, the public sector and the shipping industry. He publishes internationally on matters of shipping regulation and ocean governance, as well as speaking in high-profile international fora and conferences.

Nina Jørgensen
Professor of Public International Law

Nina brings a wealth of international legal experience to her teaching; her career includes roles in the Special Court for Sierra Leone in Freetown, the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia in Phnom Penh, and the International Criminal Tribunals for the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda. She has advised the United Nations on international criminal justice matters, and has provided voluntary legal assistance to refugees and asylum seekers in Greece. Nina's research interests include public international law, international criminal law and procedure, international human rights law, and humanitarian law.

Dr Asif Hameed
Lecturer in Law

Asif's interests lie in constitutional law, international law, and the philosophy of law. His most recent work has been examining the stresses and strains faced by the UK constitution, such as the dramatic decision to suspend Parliament in autumn 2019. He has spoken about these issues in the media and has submitted evidence to Parliament. Asif undertook his legal education at Oxford, and he taught at Cambridge for five years before joining Southampton Law School.

Dr Stephanie Law
Lecturer in Law

Stephanie's research interests are in the areas of EU private and international law, particularly fundamental rights and civil procedure, transnational private and public regulation, legal theory and methodology. Stephanie has worked in these fields as a researcher for a number of organisations, national governments and international institutions (including the European Commission), and has taught in Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Germany and the UK. Dr Law is a member of the Academic Research Panel of Blackstone Chambers, and of the Open Society Foundation's Abusive Lending Working Group.

Jacob Eisler
Associate Professor of Public Law

Jacob's research examines popular autonomy in democratic societies (particularly the US and the UK), seeking to understand the impact of judicial decisions on citizen self-governance. Dr Eisler's research seeks to inform analysis of case law and its practical impact through political and moral philosophy, thereby unifying theoretical and doctrinal understandings of law.

Dr Eisler has published work in the UC Davis Law Review, the First Amendment Law Review, and the Cambridge Law Journal, among others.

YOUR COURSES

- We're a Russell Group Law School with 90% approval rating for our teaching (NSS 2019)
- You can take advantage of exceptional networking and career opportunities, including pro bono activities, prestigious marshalling schemes and prizes, and careers fairs attended by the 'magic circle' of top law firms
- You'll learn from leading academics how law answers real-world challenges
- Research a topic that has captured your interest in your dissertation

Enhance your employability skills through study abroad or Year in Employment options

Personalise your learning by choosing optional modules taught by subject experts

delivering high-quality undergraduate law degrees

Gain in-depth knowledge of law while developing the analytical and problem-solving skills that all employers want. Our academics will inspire you to achieve your best - 97% of our students say that we're good at explaining things. Join our close-knit learning community where student-staff interaction is valued and prioritised.

Course structure

Your specialist law degree will include core and optional modules, allowing you to focus your learning. The core modules are designed to give you a deeper understanding of the contested nature of law and legal principle, develop your critical thinking skills, and help you to construct and communicate a persuasive argument. You'll have the freedom to choose optional modules throughout your degree, even in your first year. In your third year, as well as your optional modules, you will undertake an extended research project, culminating in a 10,000 word dissertation.

Immerse Yourself

The Legal Research and Writing module (dissertation) is a key feature of all our programmes. It's just one of the reasons we lead the Russell Group for the opportunities we provide to explore ideas and concepts in-depth. As well as a unique opportunity to research a topic that has captured your interest, it provides a fantastic showcase for your legal and transferable skills. Employers tell us they value the skills it embeds, including advanced legal research, the ability to weigh evidence and communicate complex arguments clearly and succinctly. You will be supported throughout the process by an academic supervisor and a variety of learning activities.

Law is all around us

Our wide range of optional modules allows you to explore how law operates in different contexts.

Are you interested in subjects key to the UK's economic success, such as commercial, maritime and insurance law? Or areas where law and social policy intertwine, such as health care law and ethics, and family law? Perhaps you are keen to study the complexities and challenges of the criminal justice system. Our optional modules reflect the rich variety of our research expertise, so you will learn from leading academics who bring their subject alive. You will also have access to a range of innovative interdisciplinary modules, such as economics, risk management and social enterprise.

Please note that the availability of optional modules may change from time to time, and prospective applicants should visit our website for full and up-to-date information.

If you're interested in exploring new horizons, you can opt to study at one of our partner institutions, including Australia, Belgium, Canada, France, Hong Kong, India or Japan.

How will you learn?

As you'd expect from a Russell Group Law School, we use a range of teaching, learning and assessment methods. Lectures introduce new ideas and key concepts. Discussion-based learning in tutorials and seminars will develop your legal analysis and problem-solving skills, as well as enabling you to clarify your understanding and ask questions. Group projects will help you to become a confident and collegiate team-player. You will learn to communicate complex legal arguments succinctly and precisely by writing essays, reports, portfolios, blogs and journals and through presenting, debating and mooting.

Our rigorous law degrees meet the requirements set out by the Bar Standards Board. For more information visit: www.barstandardsboard.org.uk

Additionally, our degrees provide excellent preparation for those wishing to practise as solicitors. For the latest information on the routes to becoming a solicitor visit: www.sra.org.uk

Choose Southampton

- A rigorous, thought-provoking education that thoroughly prepares you for a legal career
- Russell Group leading research-led teaching - 90% student satisfaction rating for our teaching*
- Dedicated employability and networking programme, including Law Careers Fair, workshops by leading law firms, pupillages, and Marshalling schemes

Course content

Our challenging and inspiring LLB programme combines in-depth legal knowledge with strong critical thinking and communication skills. Core modules in years one and two build your understanding of the legal system and your analytical skills. You will also choose optional modules each year to explore specialist areas of law which reflect the diverse research interests of our academics Law does not exist in a vacuum, divorced from society, so as well as mastering legal rules and principles, you will learn how the law operates in different contexts and whose interests it reflects and serves. Through our research-led approach to teaching, we consider the policies behind the legal rules and examine how the law has changed over time to respond to emerging real-world issues.

As part of your degree you can:

- gain work experience alongside legal professionals by advising students at the Law Clinic
- engage with our academic research groups including the Centre for Law, Policy and Society

In year three your extended research project (dissertation) is the culmination of your degree, showcasing your legal knowledge and professional, graduate skills. It gives you a unique opportunity to explore in-depth a topic that fascinates you and also makes a great talking point at job interviews.

“ I enjoy trying to understand the rationale for legal rules, as well as engaging in discussions about the effectiveness of the law. I also like how the intellectual foundation that law has given me transfers to other areas, such as politics and even science. It gives you a strong basis in the ability to reason, from which you can pursue other intellectual interests.”

I chose Southampton because of the reputation of the University and the Law School. This is important as I plan to return to Canada to practice law, and the University's Russell Group status helps employers understand the quality and rigour of my degree. I also liked that I could take optional modules throughout all 3 years of my programme.”

YOUR LEARNING

Customise your degree, explore beyond your chosen subject and enjoy active learning at Southampton. We have the resources, staff and support you need to learn in your own way and get the most out of your degree.

Whether you aspire to join the legal profession or work in the commercial, public or charitable sectors, our LLB programmes will help you achieve your career ambitions. We will make law come alive by sharing our expertise and enthusiasm as law academics working at the forefront of our fields. You'll learn how law answers real-world challenges and affects all areas of our lives, such as the myriad consequences of the Covid-19 pandemic. You'll also be challenged to achieve your best in a stimulating and constructive learning environment.

Independent thinking

To make a difference in today's challenging world, our law graduates need to be agile and independent thinkers. We have designed a rigorous programme that will stretch your mind and expand your capabilities, while developing the skills that employers want. The programme supports you as you progress from acquiring key legal skills and mastering foundational legal principles, to becoming a versatile, creative graduate equipped with an impressive portfolio of knowledge and skills. We'll support you by providing constructive feedback on your progress to encourage you to reflect on your development and reach your full potential. We are proud to be the top Russell Group law school for the helpfulness of our feedback.

Professional skills

You will become skilled at evaluating arguments and evidence, and analysing and solving legal problems through discussion-based learning. As well as learning to convey complex legal arguments succinctly and precisely, you will have numerous opportunities to practise your presentation, mooting, negotiation and debating skills. You will have access to an extensive range of electronic resources, ensuring that your legal research skills are state of the art.

One-to-one support

Motivating yourself and learning independently is empowering, but can often take time to get used to when you start university. One of the most important people you will meet during your time with us will be your Personal Academic Tutor (PAT), who will offer one-to-one support and advice throughout your studies.

This relationship will be valuable from your very first few weeks here, right up until you graduate.

Learning resources

Virtual learning

With access to the Southampton Virtual Environment (SVE) 24 hours a day, and Wi-Fi across all our UK campuses and halls of residence, you can learn anytime, anywhere. We also provide a wide range of online resources, including specialised materials, that will enable you to interact with experts in your field and facilitate group project work.

We have been awarded silver for our teaching excellence*

Our libraries

The University of Southampton has an excellent law library to support you. In addition to the collection of thousands of printed books and academic journals, the library has a growing collection of electronic books and eJournals which students can access from anywhere in the world 24 hours a day.

We understand the importance of developing good legal research skills in order for you to succeed in your studies and future career, and we offer one to one support with our dedicated Law librarian. We also offer small group legal research skills workshops throughout the year to help you hone your legal research skills. You will have the opportunity to develop expertise in using the key industry standard legal research tools including Westlaw, LexisLibrary, HeinOnline, i-law, Justis and Lawtel.

Our other five libraries contain some three million books, journals, and other resources, including specialist collections of national and international importance. Many of these are also available online, so you can access them wherever you are. Whenever you need help, our library teams offer wide-ranging support and guidance online, in person, via chat and over the phone. Online resources, tutorials and workshops run by our library staff will also help you make the best use of our collections and services.

Investing in your experience

We are continuously updating our campuses to ensure that we can give you the best possible student experience.

Our students have their say in how we develop, and we value and listen to student feedback to provide a world-class education and learning environment.

INFLUENCING POLICY: ADDRESSING THE HARMS OF INDETERMINATE SENTENCES

A Southampton Law School academic has collaborated with the Prison Reform Trust to tackle the damaging consequences of a controversial indeterminate prison sentence on prisoners and their families.

Sentences of Imprisonment for Public Protection (IPPs) were implemented in 2005, and designed to protect the public from serious offenders whose crimes did not merit a life sentence.

While perhaps superficially appealing, IPPs have in practice proved difficult to understand, leaving victims and their families uncertain about how and when an offender will be released.

Dr Harry Annison has recently led a project - co-funded by the Prison Reform Trust and the Economic and Social Research Council - to examine in detail the specific issues faced by families of people serving the discredited indeterminate 'IPP' sentence.

The collaborative project builds on research that has been carried out between Dr Annison, of Southampton Law School, and Professor Rachel Condry, from the University of Oxford. The findings from this initial research were presented at the Houses of Parliament to senior representatives of the Parole Board, HM Prison and Probation Service, Ministry of Justice and the House of Commons Justice Committee.

Initial findings made clear the need to address the difficulties faced by families of people serving these IPP sentences. The research showed that much more needed to be done to ensure that families of people serving IPP sentences have the information and appropriate support that they require.

Their findings included:

- Families reporting significant material effects
- The disruption of family relationships with the prisoner
- Significant negative health effects caused by stress and anxiety
- Uncertainty created by open-ended IPP sentences, leaving families feeling they were serving the sentence along with their relative
- IPP prisoners living in constant fear of recall after release

Dr Annison said: "Our initial research highlighted numerous practical challenges faced by families of IPP prisoners, which need to be addressed. Our findings made clear the considerable challenges faced, and the pains experienced, by these families, and others involved in providing on-going support.

"The families were keen to be seen as part of the solution and to have their role in the support and rehabilitation of the person serving an IPP sentence recognised. I am delighted that this follow-on project has enabled families to do so. We are particularly pleased that relevant organisations including the Parole Board for England and Wales have engaged so constructively with us in seeking to achieve positive change in relation to the ongoing effects of this discredited sentence, which continue even after its abolition in 2012."

Dr Annison and Senior Research Assistant, Christina Straub, organised a range of collaborative activities, including holding co-production workshops with families, in order to develop recommendations targeted at specific organisations. Action has now been taken by organisations including the Parole Board and the Prison Service, on the basis of these recommendations, and in ongoing consultation with Dr Annison.

We are very much aware of the work of Dr Annison, who works in partnership with the Prison Reform Trust and it has already given us an important insight into the impact on families of their loved ones serving IPP sentences. I am looking forward to seeing the conclusions of the next stage of his work.”

This September I'll begin a year working as a Research Assistant with the Law Commission Commercial and Common Law team. The Law Commission is part of the Ministry of Justice, looking at law reform and how reform can be implemented. I'll be working with a small team of highly qualified lawyers, doing everything from interviewing eminent legal professionals to drafting Bills for Parliament. I'm really looking forward to working in the heart of London with some amazing legal minds, and having the chance to shape legal policy for the future.”

YOUR STUDENT LIFE

Your time at Southampton will make your degree a lot more than just a qualification.

01

Campuses

We have five campuses in Southampton, one in Winchester and one in Malaysia. Each has its own distinct personality and community.

Highfield is our main campus; it is home to historic buildings, cutting-edge research and teaching facilities, and the Students' Union, as well as our beautiful green spaces. Highfield is a hub of activity and the perfect place to study, relax, and socialise.

uni_southampton

Follow us on Instagram to see more pictures of our campuses

Just a few minutes' walk from Highfield, and on the edge of Southampton Common, Avenue Campus is where you'll find most of our humanities subjects. Avenue houses our state-of-the-art £3m Archaeology building.

Boldrewood Innovation Campus is the base for engineering studies and research. Facilities include a driving simulator, design studios, a 138m towing tank and our £48m National Infrastructure Laboratory.

One of the UK's leading teaching hospital trusts, University Hospital Southampton NHS Foundation Trust is the base for the study of medicine and healthcare.

Our unique waterfront campus, based at the National Oceanography Centre Southampton (NOCS), is one of the world's leading research centres for the study of ocean and Earth science.

Winchester School of Art (WSA) is located 12 miles north of Southampton, in Winchester city centre. With creative ambition at its core, WSA supports students with cutting-edge resources including specialist computer suites, studios, 3D printing, industrial sewing and knitting machines, and more.

Set within the EduCity Iskandar development in Johor, Southampton Malaysia offers split degrees in several undergraduate Engineering programmes. Students benefit from our world-class teaching and course content in a safe and supportive international environment with excellent facilities.

Social life

Run for students by students, the Students' Union aims to unlock the potential and enrich the life of every student. Its main purpose is to look after the academic interests of all students, through their representation system, elections and Advice Centre.

- Experience Freshers' – a full programme of activities to help you settle in.
- Join one of more than 300 clubs and societies, and try everything from archery and performing arts to debating and quidditch.
- Volunteer your time with RAG (Raise and Give), a student group that organises fundraising events to benefit local, national and international charities.
- Enjoy food from a Michelin-trained chef at student prices in The Bridge, try delicious vegan and vegetarian food in The Plant Pot, or socialise with friends in The Stag's sports bar.
- Catch a film in the Union's 260-seat cinema, run by student volunteers.
- Dance the night away in the Union's venues for large events, such as gigs and student balls.
- Become a DJ or station manager at Surge Radio and SUSUtv
- Try out journalism with one of the Union's award-winning magazines, Wessex Scene or The Edge.

03

04

05

- Get free, independent and confidential advice from the Advice Centre on matters including student finance, housing and academic issues.
- Run for one of the positions in the Students' Union's elections and become the voice of students across the University.

Sport

- Swim in our six-lane, 25-metre pool or use the varied fitness equipment across our nine gyms: six on campus and three more in the city.
- Compete on over 20 grass and synthetic pitches or use our martial arts studio or indoor climbing wall.
- Your subsidised Sport and Wellbeing membership gives you access to a host of facilities and activities across the city including a dry ski slope, athletics track, and free watersports.
- Join one of the student sport teams or Athletic Union clubs.

OUR INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY

Join our vibrant and diverse international student community; study, make lifelong friendships and socialise on the south coast of the UK.

We welcome students from over 130 countries, including around 7,450 EU and international students.

Support and advice

Living and learning in a different country is a big step, so we ensure that our international students have all the support they need.

From ensuring a straightforward entry process, to offering attractive scholarships to eligible applicants, we can help you settle in to your new life in the UK.

Meet us in your country

www.southampton.ac.uk/sb/meetus

Our International Office

Wherever you are in the world, it is easy to discover how to become a part of our community. Our friendly International Office staff regularly travel overseas and within the UK to meet potential students at exhibitions and events.

We are always happy to help and can answer any questions you may have about living and studying here.

Welcome Programme

Every September, we arrange a free Welcome Programme for international and EU students, which is designed to help you settle into life in the UK and at the University before your studies begin. Meet other undergraduate students, attend talks, explore our campuses and the city, and more.

Meet and Greet

We organise a free Meet and Greet service for all new international and EU students in September each year. Our representatives meet you at Heathrow or Gatwick Airport and transport you directly to our campuses.

You can register for the Welcome Programme and Meet and Greet service from July.

English language requirements and support

You will need to demonstrate that you have sufficient knowledge of the English language in order to be able to benefit from all academic activities at the University.

For details about English language requirements for our courses, visit our website.

We also offer a wide range of support programmes to help you prepare for learning in a British academic environment and meet your English language requirements. Our pre-sessional courses help you prepare before you start your course, and there is ongoing academic English language support you can access while you study.

International Student Accommodation Guarantee

If you are an international student, we guarantee you a place in University accommodation, as long as you fulfil the full criteria of the guarantee, which includes applying before 1 August each year, and continuing to be classified as international for fees purposes.

My time in Southampton so far has been absolutely fantastic! The opportunities that I have been able to engage with and the friends that I have made from different countries so far have been very fulfilling.”

APPLYING AND FUNDING

How and when to apply

- Applications should be submitted via UCAS (www.ucas.com).
- Our institution code is S27 and our code name is SOTON.
- The applications open in early September.
- The equal consideration date for all other programmes is 15 January. (Please note that this does not apply to international applicants.)
- The deadline for applications is 30 June, although we strongly advise you to apply as early as possible as some courses may no longer have vacancies after the January equal consideration date.

What we look for

When assessing your application, we look for indicators of capability and potential. We also consider the context in which you achieved your formal qualifications, including whether you are from a socioeconomic group currently under-represented in higher education, whether you have participated in an outreach programme, or any personal circumstances that may have impacted on your grades. For more information, see our website.

Tuition fees and funding

The University will set fees for 2021/22 subject to any conditions imposed by government. Currently the tuition fee is £9,250*, but we offer a large number of generous fee waivers and bursaries for eligible students. For students from lower income families, these financial packages will be based on household income supplied to us by the Student Loans Company.

If you are funding your own studies, you will need to pay your fees in advance, or you can choose to pay your fees in three instalments on the first day of each term to help spread the cost across the year.

Visit our website for the latest information on tuition fees before you submit your UCAS form for entry in the 2021/22 academic year. Students who have applied for a deferred place in 2020/21 will be eligible for the 2021/22 tuition fees and support.

If you are a UK student starting a higher education course in 2021/22, you can apply for loans to help pay for both fees and living costs. For more details, visit www.southampton.ac.uk/sb/fees

EU student fees

At the time of print the UK government has not confirmed whether students from the EU will be eligible for UK or international fees. Up-to-date information about fees can be found on our website.

Channel Islands/ Isle of Man student fees

Channel Islands and Isle of Man students will be charged the same tuition fee as UK students.

International student fees for 2021/2022

All programmes in Social Sciences, and Arts and Humanities: £18,520 per year
Prospective applicants can find the latest information at www.southampton.ac.uk/sb/fees

International student fixed fees

International students commencing their programme of study in 2021 will pay the same fixed fee for each year of their programme, with the exception of programmes where a combination of clinical and nonclinical fees apply.

Scholarships and bursaries

We offer a variety of scholarships and progression awards to the most talented students across our subject areas.

We also offer a range of bursaries designed to help UK undergraduate students in the most financial need.

EPQ

Our research-led approach to learning is reinforced in the value we place on an Extended Project Qualification.

As the first university to formally recognise the EPQ in its admissions offer scheme, we have always recognised that skills gathered through independent project work and research will enhance and prepare you for your university experience.

Equivalent to half an A level, an EPQ requires students to complete a self-directed and self-motivated project on a topic of their choice.

On most of our courses applicants offering an EPQ will be made two offers – our typical offer based on 3 A levels, and an alternative where, in exchange for an A or A* in the EPQ, we will reduce the A level requirements by one grade. For example, a typical offer of AAA would be made alongside an offer of AAB, plus an A in the EPQ.

We also provide free online support on developing EPQ research projects.

TRAVEL DETAILS

It's easy to get to us from anywhere in the world. Just over an hour south of London, Southampton has excellent transport links with the rest of the UK, Europe and beyond.

Southampton Airport flies to over 25 destinations across the UK and abroad

By road

Our Southampton and Winchester campuses are well connected to the national road network.

Via the M3

The M3 links Southampton and Winchester directly to London. For Southampton campuses, exit the M3 at junction 14 and follow signs for Southampton (A33). Follow the A33 into Bassett Avenue and follow signs to University campuses.

For Winchester School of Art, exit the M3 at junction 9 or 10 and follow signs to the campus.

Via the M27

The M27 is one of the major road links along the south coast of England and passes Southampton to the north. For the University, leave the M27 at junction 5 (Southampton Airport) and follow signs to University campuses.

Satellite navigation

When travelling by car, please use the following postcodes in satellite navigation devices:

For Southampton Highfield Campus, use SO17 1BJ

For Avenue Campus, use SO17 1BF

For Boldrewood Campus, use SO16 7QF

For the National Oceanography Centre Southampton, use SO14 3ZH

For Southampton General Hospital, use SO16 6YD

For Winchester School of Art, use SO23 8DL

By air

Southampton Airport

Southampton Airport is about 20 minutes from the Southampton campuses by bus or taxi. There is a full UK domestic service, including flights to Manchester, Newcastle and Belfast, as well as flights to mainland Europe and to the Channel Islands.

London Gatwick and London Heathrow

If you are arriving in the UK via London Gatwick or London Heathrow airports, you can reach Southampton by road, bus, coach and rail.

By bus

We run the award-winning Unilink bus service that connects our Southampton campuses with all the major transport links in the city, including Southampton Airport Parkway and Southampton Central railway stations. You can buy tickets at the Unilink office or on the bus. A free Unilink bus pass is included in your hall fees.

Along with a number of subsidised travel options, Winchester School of Art (WSA) students can also take advantage of a shuttle bus service that runs between the Highfield Campus, Southampton, and the Winchester campus, helping WSA students make the most of everything that Southampton has to offer.

You can also download the new clickit2ride mobile app to buy tickets for Unilink bus services – and other local bus companies – on the go.

By coach

National Express runs the 032 service to London Victoria Coach Station and the 203 service to London Heathrow Airport, both via the Highfield Campus.

By rail

Southampton and Winchester are well served by mainline railway stations – Southampton Central, Southampton Airport Parkway and Winchester. Fast trains from London and Bournemouth/Weymouth stop at all three stations, and the typical journey times to London Waterloo from Southampton Central and Winchester are an hour and 20 minutes and an hour respectively. Winchester School of Art is a 15-minute walk from Winchester train station.

With up to seven buses an hour, and major routes providing a bus every 10 minutes in peak times, Unilink connects you with your accommodation, our campuses and major transport hubs in Southampton.

HOW TO FIND US

Our city is well connected, making it easy to explore your new home. We are proud to be accessible from wherever you are in the world; you are never too far from Southampton.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

The University's Charter, statutes, regulations and policies are set out in the University Calendar and can be accessed online at www.calendar.soton.ac.uk

Terms of use

This prospectus does not constitute an offer or invitation by the University of Southampton to study at Southampton. It provides an overview of the University and life at Southampton, along with information about all the undergraduate programmes available at the time of publication. This is provided for information purposes only. Applications made to the University should be made based on the latest programme information made available by the University. Relevant weblinks are shown throughout. Please also consult the programme information online for further details or for any changes that have appeared since first publication of the prospectus.

The information contained in the prospectus, welcome guides or on our websites is subject to change and may be updated by the University from time to time to reflect intellectual advances in the subject, changing requirements of professional bodies and changes in academic staff members' interests and expertise. Changes may also occur as a result of monitoring and review by the University, external agencies or regulators.

Programme Validation

Validation is the process by which the University approves its programmes of study. Any taught undergraduate and postgraduate programme leading to a University of Southampton award, including research degrees with a taught component (eg Engineering Doctorate) are required to go through Programme Validation. The full validation process can be found in the University's Quality Handbook: www.southampton.ac.uk/quality

1. Change or discontinuance of programmes

The University of Southampton will use all reasonable efforts to deliver advertised programmes and other services and facilities in accordance with the descriptions set out in the prospectuses, student handbooks, welcome guides and website. It will provide students with the tuition and learning support and other services and facilities so described with reasonable care and skill. We undertake a continuous review of our programmes, services and facilities to ensure quality enhancement. We are largely funded through public and charitable means and are required to manage these funds in an efficient and cost-effective way for the benefit of the whole of the University community. We therefore, reserve the right where necessary to:

- alter the timetable, location, number of classes, content or method of delivery of programmes of study and/or examination processes, provided such alterations are reasonable
- make reasonable variations to the content and syllabus of programmes of study (including in relation to placements);
- suspend or discontinue programmes of study (for example, because a key member of staff is unwell or leaves the University)
- make changes to our statutes, ordinances, regulations, policies and procedures which we reasonably consider necessary (for example, in the light of changes in the law or the requirements of the University's regulators). Such changes if significant will normally come into force at the beginning of the following academic year or, if fundamental to the programme, will normally come into force with effect from the next cohort of students
- close programmes of study or to combine or merge them with others (for example, because too few students apply to join the programme for it to be viable)

Find out more:

www.southampton.ac.uk/sb/campuses

However, any revision will be balanced against the requirement that students should receive the educational service expected. The University's procedures for dealing with programme changes and closures can be found in our Quality Handbook at www.southampton.ac.uk/quality

If the University closes, discontinues or combines a programme of study or otherwise changes a programme of study significantly (the 'Change'), the University will inform applicants (or students where relevant) affected by the Change at the earliest possible opportunity.

- a. If the Change comes into force before the University has made an offer of a place or before an applicant has accepted an offer of a place, an applicant will be entitled to withdraw his or her application, without any liability to the University, by informing the University in writing within a reasonable time of being notified of the Change.
- b. If the Change comes into force after an offer has been accepted but prior to the student enrolling, the student may either:
 - i) withdraw from the University and be given an appropriate refund of tuition fees and deposits, or
 - ii) transfer to another available programme (if any) as may be offered by the University for which the student is qualified

If in these circumstances the student wishes to withdraw from the University and to apply for a programme at a different university, the University shall use its reasonable endeavours to assist the student.

- c. If the Change comes into force after a student has enrolled, the University will use reasonable endeavours to teach the programme out but cannot guarantee to do so. If the University cannot teach out a programme of study, it will use its reasonable endeavours to facilitate the transfer of a student to an equivalent programme for which the student is qualified and which has places available within the University or at a different university. Any revision will be balanced against the requirement that students should receive the educational service expected.

All changes will be managed in line with our Student Protection Plan.

2. Changes to services or facilities

The University will make available to students such learning support and other services and facilities as it considers appropriate, but may vary what it provides from time to time (for example, the University may consider it desirable to change the way it provides library or IT support).

3. Financial or other losses

The University will not be held liable for any direct or indirect financial or other losses or damage arising from such closures, discontinuations, changes to or mergers of any programme of study, service or facility. Upon acceptance by an applicant of an offer of a place at the University, the relationship between the applicant and the University becomes contractual. When the contract is formed between the student and the University it will last for the relevant academic year only unless the student withdraws from the programme or the programme is terminated.

Please note: the right of a student to withdraw from a programme of study under the provisions set out in paragraph 1b. above following a Change are in addition to any statutory rights of cancellation that may exist under the Consumer Contracts (Information, Cancellation and Additional Charges) Regulations 2013. In entering into that contract, the terms of the contract will not be enforceable by any person not a party to that contract under the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act 1999.

Student Protection Plan

As a registered provider of higher education with the Office for Students, we have a Student Protection Plan (SPP) in place, which sets out what students can expect to happen should a course or campus close. The purpose of this plan is to ensure that students can continue and complete their studies, or can be compensated if this is not possible.

Full details of the plan can be found at www.southampton.ac.uk/protection-plan

Force majeure

The University will not be held liable for any loss, damage or expense resulting from any delay, variation or failure in the provision of programmes of study, services or facilities arising from circumstances beyond the University's reasonable control, including (but not limited to) war or threat of war, riot, civil strife, terrorist activity, industrial dispute, natural or nuclear disaster, adverse weather conditions, interruption in power supplies or other services for any reason, fire, boycott and telecommunications failure. In the event that such circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the University arise, it will use all reasonable endeavours to minimise disruption as far as it is practical to do so provided that such endeavours do not undermine the University's Quality Assurance requirements.

Admissions Policy and complaints

The University will assess applications in line with its then current Admissions Policy. This policy is reviewed at least annually. The Admissions Policy, current at the time of publication, is published online and is available at www.calendar.soton.ac.uk/section/IV/admissions.html

Before you apply please see subject websites listed for subject-specific terms and conditions.

Applicants may raise complaints related to admissions under the University's Regulations Governing Complaints from Applicants, which can be found at www.calendar.soton.ac.uk/section/IV/admissions.html

Further information about or clarification of these procedures is available from the Admissions team, Student and Academic Administration, University of Southampton, Southampton SO17 1BJ; enquiry@southampton.ac.uk

Data protection

During the application procedure, the University will be provided with personal information relating to the applicant. An applicant's personal data will be held and processed by the University in accordance with the requirements of the Data Protection Act 2018.
