

Dear Sir / Madam

As college and graduate degrees have become more important in the modern job market, it has become increasingly important to find ways to stand out and offer a competitive advantage. This is why I have decided to leave my native country and pursue a master's degree in the UK, as the exposure to its world-class education system and the experience interacting with diverse students in a western environment will give me a crucial edge in my career. I am applying to your master's program in Human Resource Management in order to prepare to help achieve my goal as HR and employee benefits consultant. That is why I have decided to study Human Resource Management, as I want to help to improve the overall status of employees in the companies.

My professional goals are to learn as much as I can about Human resource Management that would strengthen my awareness about trends within the field and how I can contribute to the overall mission and purpose of the profession. I would like to someday become a certified trainer in Human Resource and employees benefits market, I believe my past and current experiences have prepared me tremendously to achieve that.

Currently, I am working as a "senior broker" in the employee benefits department at ACE insurance and reinsurance brokers I had the chance to communicate and work with many Human resource managers In Identifying and analyzing the issues and challenges they are facing on delay basis to structure plans and innovative ways of overcoming these obstacles. In addition, I had a number of related courses, including Management, Organizational Behavior, from which I learned about the broader structure of organizations, grew more familiar with different approaches to management, and developed a good eye for the market. Such wide-ranging professional knowledge is vital for a successful human resource manager, and I expect that this background will prove immensely useful.

Regarding my future goals, in the short-term I plan to devote all of my energy to studying in your master's program and cultivating expertise of Human Resources Management. In the medium-term, I plan to earn my Diploma in insurance from the Chartered insurance institute certificate and then return to my native country to continue my career. Eventually, I would like to work as HR / Employee benefits consultant, honing my practical skills and applying the professional knowledge that I have accumulated. Besides the HR department, I also hope to learn from the T&D department how to come up with comprehensive courses for different departments. After accumulating sufficient experience A master's degree in Human Resources Management from your university will open new doors for me and enable me to achieve any goal that I set for myself, and I am therefore very much looking forward to the opportunity to begin learning from and contributing to your program.

Yours sincerely
