

Art is a unique form of love. It is purely an expression that comes from within. I have always tried to express my feelings through art. I have always felt connected to the arts forever. I believe ancient arts and architecture are our cultural heritage, and we should preserve them by reviving them.

I remember bringing my passion to life when I was 11 years old by establishing a studio for drawing and art library at my home. My home library had a good collection of art, culture, and history books. Also, I like to play a lot with LEGO structures. When I got to middle school, I used to have an art class on urban planning and civilizations every week. I indulged in decorating and designing my sketchpad. I didn't even know how the months flew by.

I studied arts in high school and enjoyed every bit. My Instagram page was full of my love for the arts. Then, the most exciting event of my life was getting hired as an Assistant to an art teacher. Everyone praised my creativity and potential for Arts. Since then, I got famous by the name of "The Artist" by my mates. I learned much from this opportunity and became more responsible, organized, and resourceful than ever. I never became stagnant in my life for even a minute. I wanted to stay connected to the arts in any form, so I joined the Life Reading Club, where I tried handcrafted art once. During attending Life Reading Club, I also satisfied my passion for reading about different forms of art and discussing them. I have been an active member of Art Club also, where I worked voluntarily and simultaneously appreciated the essence of arts charity.

I consider myself lucky that I was able to identify my passion from the very beginning, and I was able to pursue it. Despite many obstacles, I never lost hope and kept working hard to achieve my goals. I stood up for my dream of becoming an independent career woman.

During this phase of finding myself, I learned graphic design, and through my experience, I have taught many people about graphic design.

Having been involved in all such activities, I shaped my way to my dream career. I was equipping myself to be able to study Architecture at the university of Liverpool. I hope to be admitted to your prestigious institute and excel in the domain of art and architecture. my Story may not be very inspiring for everyone, but it is full of emotions and harmonies.

A Journey that is embarked on with love. Joy. And real-life lessons. I wish to start a new chapter of my story at the university of Liverpool. I'm affirmative that the detailed courses and modules in your program about arts, architecture, history, and culture will add immense value to my experience.
