Dear Sir / Madam,

Reference for Saleh Dandeni

Saleh studied on the International Foundation Programme (IFP) at the University of Reading in the 2021-22 session. This is an intensive one-year access course for international students without British A-level qualifications or equivalent, and students who are offered a place on the Programme are selected on the basis of a strong academic background.

During the Programme, Saleh studied three 40-credit modules and a 20-credit compulsory module in Academic Skills. The module syllabuses are set and taught by the relevant University Schools / Departments and approved through the University Quality Assurance procedures.

Saleh successfully completed three full terms of the International Foundation Programme and he completed all the assessed coursework. Passes in the final examinations are at three levels: Grade I with Distinction (70%), Grade I (60%) and Grade II (40%). Saleh's results for his modules on the International Foundation Programme are as follows:

Introduction to Business and Management	40 credits	58 %
Mathematics in Finance, Economics and Business	40 credits	55 %
International English	40 credits	68 %
Academic Skills	20 credits	55 %

Overall average 59 %

Saleh's final grade of 68% in International English is above the level for language qualification for entry to Reading University (55%).

Saleh's grades represent a good performance on the International Foundation Programme, and reports from his tutors throughout the year indicated he is a lively and engaging student with the ability and motivation to succeed. As his Academic Tutor, I closely followed Saleh's progress this year and he has demonstrated consistency throughout. He is an enthusiastic, intelligent, and motivated individual, and this year he has learnt about the demands and expectations of academic study at Higher Education level. He now approaches his studies with a greater level of maturity and determination. This foundation year has been of great benefit to Saleh in preparation for the realities of undergraduate study and I believe he is well placed to build on the success of his foundation year.

I am happy to recommend Saleh for your course in Business Management (Innovation and Entrepreneurship).
