To Whom It May Concern
Re: Maryam Yaseen Khayyat
Date of Birth: 26 October 2005

It is my pleasure to recommend Maryam Khayyat, a student enrolled in the American Diploma Program at Jeddah Knowledge International School for the undergraduate program at your institution. I have known Maryam for one year in my capacity as her math teacher.

Maryam is a spontaneous, confident, and curious student. She grasps concepts instantaneously and conveys higher order thinking skills. Maryam has demonstrated an increase in confidence in mathematics during math lessons. Her greatest academic strength is reflecting; analyzing her weaknesses which allows her to understand how to work around them and enhance her character. Maryam enjoys the thrill of being a risk-taker and experiencing new things. Her goal is to become a successful independent person. She has made smart decisions, accepted feedback, and looked for opportunities to improve.

Maryam participated in many events where she took a leadership role and demonstrated good communication skills. One such activity was leading a community service group in which they negotiated deals with vendors and obtained large quantities of food to distribute to the underprivileged. She was able to express herself easily with passion when participating in the student newspaper club. She also volunteered in many local charity activities, such as the annual Aytamona fund raising event.

I believe that Maryam has always been ready to go the extra mile for her personal and professional growth, and I recommend her without reservation.

Sincerely,

Areej Hamed
